

Environmentally Friendly

Our biological products are 100% natural and earth friendly. When introduced into the natural environment they stimulate indigenous microbial, enhancing the biological process and accomplishing in days and months what would normally take nature years.

Our product is a live culture which contains a composite of micro-organisms (aerobic, facultative, and anaerobic), enzymes, amino acids, algae, nutrients and polysaccharides that are non-pathenogenic and non-toxic.

Different uses require different product formulas and specific application methods. Let us help you lower the cost of your existing operations, and increase your profitability while alleviating waste.
